Dear Mr. Goldberg,

In yesterday's mail I got the La Smith columns that suggested what might perhaps be something that can get attention and as it happens the friend who is the head of the history department at local Hood College returned the retyped copy of the book-length manuscript on more fakers and frauds, the La Fontaines.

These are hasty and rushed to be able to get them done.

A & E and Smith would never have dared what they've done if John and Robert Kennedy were alive and could respond.

I've not made copies of the records I refer to in the draft of the letter to Winfrey because there would be too many of them and as it is I rambled a bit in that.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg

Sorry my typing cannot be any better.
